Bay Cove annexed

BY TRACI BONNEY

Contingent upon Chancery Court approval, Bay Cove is now part of the city of Bay St. Louis. The Bay St. Louis city council voted unanimously Monday night to annex about 600 acres (400 of which is water and wetlands) in the Cedar Point area into the city limits. The annexation takes effect immediately upon Chancery Court acceptance of the proposal.

Most of the remaining 200 acres belongs to Lambert Land Co., which owns the Bay Cove Marina Village, site of a proposed destination resort and dock-side gambling operation.

Before voting on the motion, the council allowed Cedar Point property owner Yancy Pogue to speak.

Pogue said he was concerned that his property will be annexed with a single-family residential zoning designation when he has maintained the bulk of the property as a park and a buffer for himself and his neighbors between their properties and the commercial development at Bay Cove. He asked that his property be zoned light commercial.

Mayor Edward Favre assured Pogue the area will not be zoned at all until the zoning study consultants hired by the city give their final recommendations for a comprehensive city zoning ordinance.

After adopting the annexation ordinance, the council adjourned and continued the meeting as a workshop to discuss with Charles Lambert and his attorney a proposed pre-annexation agreement between Lambert Land Co. and the city.

Following the brief workshop, the council set another workshop for 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 16.

School board supports America 2000 concept

BY TRACI BONNEY

Several routine business matters came before the Bay St. Louis-Waveland school board during the brief regular meeting that preceded a lengthy executive session Monday.

After calling the meeting to order, the board voted to support and seek an America 2000 designation for the local schools. Chuck Benvenutti, who made the motion, said the school board needed to decide whether or not to pursue the matter, and to declare an intention one way or the other.

The motion passed 5-0 after Gary Yarbrough commented that he hoped the motion did not lock the board into a course of action even if community support for the America 2000 concept doesn't exist.

America 2000 is a program originated by President George Bush to revitalize education through involvement by the community, business and industry. The program calls for restructuring education to make it more sensitive to the needs of both the students and the industries and businesses that will one day hire those students.

In other business, the school board approved the November meeting minutes and claims docket and accepted resignations for a janitor and a food service worker and hiring recommendations for two janitors, a maid and a bus driver.

They approved a staff development policy amendment, a

Port and Harbor closes in on bargain purchase

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Harold "Buz" Olsen, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission director, reported Monday that a 500-ton crane offered through government surplus sales, was all but theirs.

The crane will cost the commission $20,000 and is expected to pay for itself from the first year's leasing costs.

"We are making arrangements now with Dan Mortimer (Gulf Coast Fabrications) on the leasing and the transportation of the crane from Iuka, Miss."

He added that after some investigation into the cost of similar sized cranes, he felt they were really getting a bargain for their money.

During last month's meeting, Olsen informed the commission that Congressman Gene Taylor had telephoned him and told him of the sale of the crane, thinking it would be useful to tenants at the Port Bienville Industrial Park.

He said the crane was part of an equipment purchase for a planned nuclear plant site which since then has been abandoned.

At Monday's meeting, Olsen stated that he had instructed commission engineer Carlos Cordon to look into the cost of building a 4,000 square-foot open shed extension at the present ship terminal in the Port Bienville Industrial Park.

"David Humphreys is in need of some sort of shelter for bulk commodities he presently stores outside of the terminal,"

Unemployment varies little

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

According to the Mississippi Department of Employment Security, Hancock County's unemployment rate has varied little throughout the 1980's.

October 1991 statistics show Hancock as the 30th lowest of 82 counties in the state with 7.0 percent unemployment.

Chief of labor market information, Raiford Crews stated, "For most years, Hancock has been below the state percentage."

Mississippi is estimated to have 7.1 percent unemployment for October 1991, compared to the national average of 6.4 for the same month.

How these figures are derived, is a long and complicated process, Crews explained.

"Twenty to 25 percent actually represents the number of people collecting unemployment checks. The rest is made up from testimonies related to dis-

Re-enactment of nativity depicted in play Friday

At 5 p.m. tomorrow, Hugo Favre's barn will be the site of a re-enactment of the birth of Christ.

Favre, unlike the inn-keeper of the biblical story, is welcoming all to come.

"Mary will ride in on a donkey," Favre described with growing excitement. "There will be cattle and sheep and even a real baby to play the Christ child."

Favre's property is located at 3078 Third St. in Hancock County. (From Hwy. 90, drive north on Hwy. 603 for about one mile. Turn right at Necaise Electric Co. and drive three blocks to Third Street and take a left. Follow Third for a short distance until you see the barn.)

Humane Society Bazaar to benefit four-legged friends

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County Humane Society bazaar at Bay High Gym Saturday promises a good time for all while benefiting the Waveland Animal Shelter.

Shelter manager Nancy Gallagher has been working hard at placing shelter animals into caring homes for the past several months.

Since her inheritance of management of the shelter in July, adoptions per month have averaged 28 dogs and 10 cats.

Gallagher said, "We intend that profits from the bazaar be used for the purchase of a new animal control vehicle."

"The one we have now was inherited from the street department and is literally falling apart."

The bazaar will begin at 10 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

There will be a cake booth, a lolly pop pull and pick-a-prize games, craft booths, music and refreshments.

McGruff the Crime Dog will be there as Santa Paws and will sit with pets and children for Christmas photos.

Long Beach author Betty Chapman will be selling copies of her book, "Love Them and Leave Them," which tells of how she began and ran a pet sitting business along the Coast for more than three years.

The book is filled with anecdote-type stories of each pet she came to know and the unique experiences that followed.

A portion of the book's cost agreed to sit and smile while whipped cream pies are tossed in their direction, all for the benefit of man's best friend.

Count them, thirteen: Mayor Eddie Favre of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, Beat 5 Supervisor Mike Ladner, Waveland Aldermen Bob Hubbard and Curtis P. "Phil" Colson, Waveland Police Department Chief Investigator Jimmy Varnell, Russell Caldwell of Caldwell's Grocery in Waveland, Jim Mallini of Mallini Insurance Company, John "Chappy" Chapman, Al Showers of WLOX in Bay St. Louis, Father Cuthbert O'Connell of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, Bay St. Louis Police Department Chief of Police Frank McNeil and last but not least, the only female to offer herself in sacrifice of a greater need, Mayor Stella Frilot.

Betty Chapman

will be donated to the shelter.

The humane society will hold a white elephant sale, and the piece de resistance for the day will be the availability of thirteen famous faces that have

Gallagher added, "The list of people offering to sit for the pie throwing keeps growing."

"I guess I will schedule two of them at a time throughout the day so that everyone will have a chance to sit."

Pie in the sky?

Waveland Alderman Bob Hubbard discovers the hard way that whipped cream applied to the face is cold and tickles. Hubbard was a celebrity target Saturday for "pie" throwing (three shots for $1) at Bay High's arts and crafts festival. After surviving several students' attempts to decorate the alderman's face, Hubbard's clean demeanor was spoiled by his friend Marcella Archibeque, who paid her entire dollar for one plateful of whipped cream, walked up to him, and pushed it into his face with great relish. Certificate swap still in progress

BY TRACI BONNEY

Don't forget, shoppers — you still have a couple of days to register for the Chamber of Commerce's gift certificate swap.

Merchants in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead are participating in a gift certificate swap as part of the Chamber's Red Ribbon Christmas activities.

Registration boxes are in place at 42 stores, restaurants and other establishments throughout the county. Registration in one store is for a gift certificate in another store.

This gives shoppers a chance to check out stores other than those they normally shop at in Hancock County.

Registration began December 1 and will continue until Saturday. The drawings will be that evening, and will be announced in the December 19 edition of The Sea Coast Echo.

Winners will have until December 31 to redeem their gift certificates.

A gift certificate would make a great present for that special someone on your Christmas list — or an equally great treat for you.

SALE OF A CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE

Hancock County Metropolitan Narcotics Task Force Director Glenn Strong reported Wednesday the arrest of a Long Beach man on drug-related charges.

Strong said the task force arrested Mark L. Ward, 30, of Long Beach, in a parking lot on Hwy. 90 in Waveland Tuesday at about 7 p.m., and charged him with sale of a controlled substance (approximately 1 ounce of marijuana).

He was also charged with possession with intent to sell marijuana after a search of vehicle revealed four bags of marijuana. Seized were a total of 1 1/2 oz marijuana, about $140 and Ward's vehicle.

Officers assisting in the arrest were Brent Ladner, Kent Malley and Deputy Terry Roberson. Strong added, "Special thanks goes to Waveland Police Department Patrolman Frank Miller, who made the controlled buy for the task force."

Ward is out on $10,000 bond, Strong said.

Officer William Pepperman, representing the Waveland Police Department on the task force, is in charge of the case. Strong and Officer Terry Eley of the Bay St. Louis Police Department are assisting.

Le Fave joins health care task force

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Hancock County resident Pat LeFave has been named to governor-elect Kirk Fordice's Health Care Task Force.

LeFave, a registered nurse, said, "I would like to be able to share the needs of Hancock County with this particular group of people."

The task force group, according to LeFave, consist of representatives of an insurance company, the legislature, a physician, the head of a nursing home organization, a hospital administrator, the head of the state health department, the state Medicaid program and the state mental health department.

LeFave said the group met Thursday, Dec. 5 and plans to meet two more times before turning in recommendations to Fordice on December 20.

"During our first meeting," she stated, "there were about 26 or 27 topics suggested."

"We decided not to break up into sub-committees. We thought as one group it would prove more helpful to have each person contributing from his or her own field of expertise.

"We narrowed down the topics into six areas of concentration: Medicaid; primary care professionals; prevention and education; insurance reform; access, uncompensated and indigent care; and rural health care delivery."

LeFave said she was surprised to discover that Mississippi has a shortage of 2,000 registered nurses.

But she was not surprised to find that medical students graduating from Mississippi Universities are leaving the state for work.

"It is not uncommon knowledge that a staff nurse in Louisiana makes $10 more per hour than a registered nurse in Mississippi."

"We not only need to address the education of our medical personnel, but we need to bring salaries into competition with other areas so that we may retain those we have."

"Another problem that needs to be addressed is the high amount of uninsured workers. Here in Hancock County I know there are many people who are working and the company they work for either doesn't offer or won't offer health insurance. We need to provide incentives for companies and small businesses to offer health insurance to their employees."

"We must work with the insurance companies to offer a low cost for health care."

"We will also be looking at how to insure those deemed uninsurable."

"There is nothing more devastating to a person than to have a major illness and to run out of coverage, or because of a pre-existing condition not be able to receive coverage."

LeFave stated that she believes many taxpayer dollars could be saved through prevention and education.

"Early screening and prompt care of a condition cannot only save a life, it can save the extensive expense that accompanies late diagnosis of an illness."

LeFave, excited over her involvement with the Task Force, expressed her desire to see a new direction for health care in Mississippi.

"Right now the task force serves as a transitional group, but there is some talk of making it a long-term task force, one which may offer a service throughout the coming administration."

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is always good to get away for a few days, and Jane and I really enjoyed our six day visit to Texas.

I really appreciate the many kindnesses extended to me upon my being named by the Chamber of Commerce as the Outstanding Citizen.

I feel that it is a great honor and I want to thank everyone.

I would like to tell you that while away, I was with a fine group of Hancock Countians, as well as others from along the Coast.

In addition to Jane and I, our group included Harold and Alice Masson of Waveland; Phillip and Irene Scalfide and Watson and Ruth Johns of Bay St. Louis; Lorraine Heffron of Pearlinton; and Florence Laurenson of Kiln.

I would have to say that San Antonio has done a fine job in revitalization of its downtown area.

I have never seen so many restaurants and businesses of all types, and right in the middle of a downtown.

We visited Galveston for one day, San Antonio for three days and Houston for one day, and took one day to return.

At Galveston, we stayed at the Menger Hotel, the oldest in the state and across the street from the Alamo.

On Saturday there was a big celebration in front of the Alamo commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor.

Even with a drizzle, there was an Army band and a lot of people in attendance.

Of course, the ceremonies made me remember those of our area who were involved in the wars of our nation.

The history of the great state of Texas all evolves around the Alamo and it is probably the most visited site in the state.

There are a lot of points of interest in Texas and, really, many in our state; all we have to do is look a little.

A vacation needs not be far from home.

Initiative and referendum a hot legislative ticket

Remarkably, initiative and referendum—"people power" as I prefer to call it—has become a hot legislative ticket as a result of this year's elections and practically everybody from Gov.-elect Kirk Fordice on down wants to get on the bandwagon.

Obviously the message incoming lawmakers and state officials got from the voters this year is they are tired of a recalcitrant Legislature being a graveyard of progressive legislation and they want a voice in the action.

Driving the I and R bandwagon was Secretary of State Dick Molpus who last week, flanked by a cadre of legislators, was the first out of the starting blocks with his proposal to get the 1992 Legislature to give back to Mississippians the power to enact or repeal laws and constitutional changes by petition.

Atty. Gen. Mike Moore and state Reps. Ray Vecchio of Gautier and Oliver Diaz of Biloxi had brought the I & R issue to the forefront last year by raising a historic legal challenge in the state Supreme Court to reinstate "people power" struck down 69 years ago.

The people had voted back in 1914 to put I & R in the state constitution, but the Supreme Court in an amazing 1922 ruling had suspended the constitutional amendment on flimsy technical grounds. The ruling had gone unchallenged until the two lawmakers and Moore precipitated a test case by gathering 10,000 signatures on petitions last year to repeal the constitutional ban on lotteries.

In a split decision, the present Supreme Court declined to overturn the 1922 ruling even though, as it strongly implied, it may have been wrong.

Because of his office, Molpus was thrust into the uncomfortable position of opposing Moore's lawsuit, while at the same time avowing his support for the principle of initiative and referendum. However, Molpus made it plain that he felt the old 1914 provision would be unworkable because it allowed propositions to be put on the ballot by only 7500 voters.

In the package he rolled out last week, Molpus proposed a petition threshold of 8 percent of the total vote in the last gubernatorial election to put statutory changes on the ballot; 10 percent for constitutional amendments; and 6 percent for a referendum to repeal laws passed by the Legislature.

But Molpus has opted for what is called "indirect initiative," giving the Legislature a second shot to enact laws after a petition has been filed before it would be put on the ballot. If the lawmakers adopt an amended version of the proposition, then both measures would go on the ballot.

In view of the Mississippi Legislature's sorry track record of denying the right of direct democracy to the people for the past seven decades, it is highly debatable now that lawmakers should be allowed a second chance after failing to enact measures demanded by the people.

Also expected to become controversial is the provision in the Molpus package that not more than one-third of the signatures on an initiative or referendum petition may come from one congressional district.

Both the 10 percent threshold for constitutional amendments and the 8 percent for statutory enactments would be among the highest petition requirements of any states which now have I & R.

In a rural state such as Mississippi, such a high requirement, coupled with the restriction of no more than one-third of signatures from any one congressional district, could put an unreasonable barrier in the path of people using the initiative power.

Molpus, in snatching the reins of the drive to push I & R through the Legislature, rather obviously pushed Moore out of the picture by not inviting him to join in the news conference at which his proposal was unveiled.

And Vecchio and Diaz seemed to be relegated to second string players as Sen. Rick Lambert of Hattiesburg, a newcomer to the I & R battle, was given top billing in the lineup of legislative supporters.

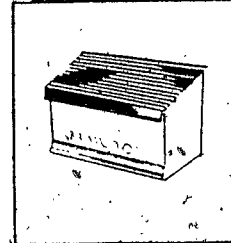

If Molpus can pull together the formidable coalition of organizations he mobilized behind his successful campaign for mail-in voter registration in the 1991 session, and push through "people power," it will give him a lot of mileage on his future political plans.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Remarks by Corps spokesman reflect disturbing attitude

Dear Editor,

In the "Historic Impact" article of Dec. 1, Ron Kritzman, chief of regulatory function branch, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, elaborating on his affirmative response to the question of whether an archaeological evaluation was necessary at the proposed Bay bridge casino site, told members of the Tourism and Gaming Association, "An archaeological evaluation is not going to hold anything up, if they find something, you can find a way to mitigate it."

Although I am not an opponent of dockside gambling, Mr. Kritzman's remarks are none the less appalling.

The policy which requires such archaeological evaluations exists because development in the past has too often resulted in the destruction of priceless archaeological treasures.

Is the Army Corps of Engineers acting in the public interest or in the interest of casino operators? Is Mr. Kritzman merely trying to provide the opponents of gambling with more ammunition?

Mr. Kritzman's remarks and the attitude they reflect are part of the reason people are so skeptical of casino development, especially coming from the chief of the regulatory function branch of the Corps of Engineers.

Drinking and driving a deadly combination

Dear Editor,

The facts clearly state that alcohol and drug abuse are a problem. As drug education coordinator of the schools in Bay St. Louis and Waveland it is my problem. It is your problem, too. If you are a student, teacher, businessman or community leader, drugs and alcohol are your problem.

Every 22 minutes there is one alcohol-related automobile accident fatality.

*Police report: 345,000 injuries occurred in alcohol related accidents last year.

*In 1990, Americans spent over $40 billion on illicit drugs.

3-D Week or Drinking and Drugged Driving Awareness Week is a week dedicated to making a conscious effort not to drink and drive or use other drugs and drive. Dec. 7-13 is National 3-D Week. The week comes during the holiday season which is a popular time for parties and the attitude of eat, drink, and be merry.

The SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) organizations of Bay High, Hancock High School, Our Lady Academy, and St. Stanislaus would like to ask everyone in Hancock County not to drink, abuse drugs and drive.

The best way to protect ourselves from these problems is to band together and not be indifferent. Drug and alcohol abuse is not only my problem—it is our problem—yours and mine.

Sincerely,
Melissa Johnson

Lady Tigers need support of parents, students, community

To the Editor:

This year's Lady Tigers basketball team enters a new district which includes East Marion, Forrest County, Purvis, Vancleave, Poplarville and Perry Central.

We have a very young team this year. It consists of eight ninth graders, two sophomores, one junior and two seniors. We need to start from scratch and learn basic fundamentals. The girls know that they are not ready to compete on the high school level, but they have committed themselves to improve and stay together as a team. Their attitudes are great considering the losses they have taken so far this season.

What our program needs is support from the faculty and staff and students of Bay High School. We need the community to start backing our program instead of concentrating on the negative. My girls also need parental support. I think it's a shame to see three or four parents in the bleachers for a home game. Bay High School has one of the finest gyms along the entire Gulf Coast and it's a shame that we can't fill it.

The Bay High Lady Tigers are not quitters, and we will always strive to improve and work as a team. We have a long way to go, and it's not going to happen this year; but we believe in a few years Bay High will have the kind of girls' basketball program everyone can be proud of.

Harrison Co. circuit clerk-elect seeks to abolish fee system

To the Editor,

In my campaign for circuit clerk, I pledged to do my best to place the circuit clerk on a fixed salary.

I feel the public has lost confidence in the fee system and, as a result, I pledged to lobby the legislature for a salary solution that restores public confidence in the clerk's office.

On December 2 I appeared before the Harrison County Legislative Delegation asking their support for a legislative bill to abolish the fee system for paying the circuit clerk and to pay the clerk a fair salary based on the size of the county and the services performed by the clerk in the various counties. This has worked for the sheriff, tax collector and tax assessor statewide. It should now be applied to the circuit clerk.

Further, I have asked the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce to submit resolutions to the Harrison County Legislative Delegation to abolish the fee system in favor of a salary for the circuit clerk.

The Mississippi State and the Harrison County Bar Associations will be requested by me to lend their support to this effort.

I ask the citizens who expressed concern to unite with me and help achieve this goal.

Council gives Bay Tech free port tax exemption

BY TRACI BONNEY

In a 4-1 decision last week, the Bay St. Louis city council granted Bay Technical Associates a tax exemption on the inventory in the company's free port warehouses.

A free port warehouse is one that stores items being transported from or through Mississippi to another state. By law, a municipality or county is allowed to grant tax exemptions on those items.

After some discussion Tuesday, Mayor Edward Farr recommended that the council grant the exemption for a 10-year period, to concur with an exemption granted by the county board of supervisors in Hattiesburg. The council approved the mayor's recommendation, with Jim Thriffley opposing. Thriffley said he could not vote for the exemption because it also exempted Bay Technical from paying school taxes on the free port inventory.

After other routine business, the council heard brief remarks from Don Tyner and Alice Holmes during the public forum. Tyner documented a claim made in a previous meeting and Holmes informed the council she has hired a law firm to represent her in her objections to Mardi Gras Casino's proposed Bay bridge dockside gambling development.

New Chamber logo

The Chamber of Commerce unveiled its new logo shown above, Friday night at the annual Chamber banquet. The logo, designed by Thomas H. "Doc" Toups, depicts a seagull and sailboat, two of the most well-known and best-loved symbols of the Gulf Coast, to represent the unique flavor of the area. Toups was awarded a $100 savings bond for his winning entry. He remarked, "I appreciate the Chamber's vote of confidence in my work, and I hope it will serve the community well in the future."

Non-alcoholic drinks should have place at holiday parties

Eat, drink and be merry—that's what most hosts and hostesses want their guests to do at holiday events. But what about getting home safely after the merriment ends?

The Bessie S. Speed Center for Alcohol and Drug Education at the University of Mississippi has published "An Alternative Party Guide" for successful partying. Included in the booklet are a number of suggestions for encouraging responsible drinking, as well as recipes for non-alcoholic drinks.

Among the suggestions are these tips:

—Keep cocktail hours short. If dinner is included, serve it relatively soon. Drinks are supposed to enhance a fine dinner, not compete with it.

—Serve non-alcoholic beverages for those who do not care for alcoholic beverages. Do not distinguish between alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks by using different types of glasses.

—Serve snacks so guests will not drink on an empty stomach, if a meal is not included in the plans. Try to serve foods that act as a buffer for alcohol, not salty foods that stimulate thirst. High-moisture, low-calorie foods—such as raw vegetables and light dips—are ideal.

If a guest does happen to drink too much, assume responsibility for his or her welfare. The following are some recipes for non-alcoholic drinks from the booklet:

Do you have Christmas shopping problems such as limited shopping time or a gift list including names of many for whom it is difficult to buy?

Your problems may be solved by a choice from the vast and lovely assortment of foods available in local food markets during the holiday season.

There are nuts in the shell; dried fruits; fresh apples, pears and citrus; canned hams or canned seafood delicacies; assortments of cheese, both domestic and imported; a delicately flavored tea; a collection of herbs. All of these, and many more that you will note as you wander through your market, offer gift ideas that fit into prac-

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Pralines are tasty Christmas delicacies

Pralines, (Praw-leens) the candy of the Creoles and other Southerners in New Orleans and along our Gulf Coast, are as much a part of cookery art as any other edible and one of the tastiest delicacies ever for giving as gifts at Christmas; they're always appreciated!

Our own city of Bay St. Louis has been called "The Praline Capital of the World"—with good reason, for not only can you find these special confections at the shops, but many of our local cooks are also quite adept at turning out delicious pralines.

History tells us (at least many of the histories do) that the praline gets its name from the French diplomat of long ago, Cesar DuPlessis-Pralin, later le Duc de Choiseul. It is said that the duke's butler had told his master that almonds coated with white sugar would aid his digestion; and thus evolved the sugary almond-studded confection.

After the praline had made its way to early Louisiana and Mississippi, cooks there substituted the pecans, native to the area; for the almonds, added brown sugar to the granulated sugar, and thus came up with their own version.

There are as many stories about the origin of the praline as there are variations in the making of this confection, I suppose. Some like creamy pralines, others prefer the sugary sort. Here's an old recipe which I've happily used for a long time, a creamy melt-in-the-mouth version:

PRALINES

1 1/2 cups white sugar
1 1/2 cups dark brown sugar
2 cups shelled pecans, chopped as you like

Butter the size of an egg

1 cup milk

2 tsp. vanilla

Cook the sugar, butter, milk and vanilla in a saucepan over low heat until a bit of the syrupy mixture forms a soft ball when dropped into a cup of cold water (or, if you're a more precise and modern cook, just until the candy thermometer registers 230 degrees).

Add the pecans and stir until the mixture coats the nuts. Beat until cloudy and thick, then drop by tablespoons onto waxed paper, making small "patties" and moving after a few minutes so that the pralines won't stick to the paper. (Of course, if you still have Great-Gramm's marble-topped sideboard or chest or table around, that's even better. That's where I drop my pralines. (Those marble slabs are also great for strudels, rolling biscuit dough, and what have you.)

Pass Christian couple celebrates golden anniversary at Kmart

By T. H. (Doc) Toups
Patrick and Kathlynn
Enright were married on December 10, 1941 in their native New Orleans and celebrated their 50th anniversary at the Waveland Kmart.

Mrs. Enright said the couple had come to the Coast to visit friends in the early sixties and fell in love with the area. They built a home in Pass Christian and moved there in 1962.

Paul McElveen, Kmart manager, explained the couple have been regular Kmart shoppers for as long as he could remember, and that when his staff heard that the Enrights were going to celebrate their 50th anniversary, they decided to do something special.

"We're proud to help them celebrate their anniversary," McElveen said. "They are special people, and we think of them as part of our Kmart family." Kmart employees gave the couple a party in the employee lounge and served cake and refreshments.

When asked the secret to a successful 50-year marriage, Mr. Enright said, "Overlook a lot and forgive a lot." Mrs.
Enright said, "Work on the marriage," and with a smile she added, "have a lot of love and patience."

Kmart employees congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Enright

Gifts

tically any budget and have appeal to a wide variety of tastes.

The most appreciated gifts at Christmas time are the ones you've carefully and thoughtfully made yourself. Gifts from your kitchen are especially welcomed by those who receive them.

If you're planning to give holiday foods for Christmas, you should be planning and preparing now.

Where freezer space is available, you can prepare and bake many foods—then carefully wrap them in moisture-vapor-proof material and freeze them now for delivery at Christmas.
Fruit cakes, if tightly wrapped first in fruit juice moistened cheesecloth then foil, taste best if prepared ahead and allowed to ripen and mellow. Store wrapped fruit cakes in a cool, dark place.

If you're without a freezer, here is timetable guide to baking ahead. Bake breads no more than a day or two ahead.

Foods requiring refrigeration such as cream-filled cakes or pies should not be prepared more than one day in advance and then kept chilled. Attach instructions for the person receiving the gift to refrigerate and serve as soon as possible.

The mystery and enchantment of Christmas gifts are enhanced by clever wrappings.
This is especially true of a gift
you bake yourself.

Among the many good containers for your home baked presents are the baking dishes themselves. Replace loaves of home-baked breads in pans and wrap in clear plastic or place breads on attractive cutting boards and overwrap. Add bright bows, tags and maybe sprigs of holly, tiny Christmas ornaments or pine cones.

Bake breads in unusual containers such as coffee cans, juice cans or casseroles. Replace loaves in the containers for giving. Add a few special festive decorations to the containers first. Baskets, paper plates, unusual jars, even paper bags all decorated make fine containers. Fill a container, in keeping with a hobby, with favorite cookies or candies.

Homemade jams and jellies make delightful gifts. Or, wrap some of your canned goods in Christmas wrapping.

An outdoor chef might enjoy a jar of your best barbecue sauce and several sets of skewers.

Someone on your list is sure to enjoy your favorite cheese dip in refrigerator jars.

For gifts that continue giving, include the recipe for your baked foods. Write or type the recipe clearly on little Christmas notes. You might also attach serving suggestions or menu suggestions with the gift.
Be sure to include any additional preparation steps, such as reheating of coffee cake.

Perhaps the easiest food gift is a gift certificate in the amount you choose. Ask about these in the grocery store where you shop.

For display:

Artist/producer Bob Songy is presenting local artisans along with some of his newest works in an "Art Show for the Holiday Season."

The show, open to the public, is being held on weekends in "The Courtyard" at Court Street Cuisine, on the corner of Court Street and Beach Boulevard.

Recognition of excellence:

The Walter Anderson Museum of Art in Ocean Springs recently was awarded the Southeast Museum Association Award for publication excellence in the Silver Award category for the opening poster entitled "Red Wing Black Birds."

Each year the Southeast Museum conference, comprised of museums in 12 states in the southeastern United States, holds a juried competition for publication excellence in museums.

The award-winning poster was created in April in conjunction with the Museum's grand opening May 3. The poster was part of a series of publication in conjunction with the Museum's opening exhibition of works by Walter Inglis Anderson (1903-1965), which was funded in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Publications are generally created by a team of designers and printers. The Museum's graphic designer for this project was Jim Edminson of Alexandria, La. Edminson has a long history of working with the museums in developing creative designs for printed matter. The printer for the award-winning poster was Dolphin Press, Long Beach.

Copies of the poster are available through the Museum Store for $8 each. The Walter Anderson Museum of Art is a not-for-profit organization located at 510 Washington Avenue in Ocean Springs. For more information, call 872-3164.

Elsewhere:

The ArtsAlliance of Jackson & Hinds County seeks entries for its 1992 Jubilee! JAM festival poster contest until January 3, 1991. Any artist 18 or older may enter. A prize of $1,000 will be awarded. Jubilee! JAM, now in its sixth year, is an arts and music festival that attracts about 40,000 people to historic downtown Jackson each May. The winning poster design will be used on the festival's promotional literature, advertising, t-shirts and other souvenirs.

The ArtsAlliance also is seeking applications from artists and craftspeople to sell their works May 16 and 17 at Jubilee! JAM. Deadline for entries is January 31, 1992.

All artists 18 and older are encouraged to apply for a booth in the Artists' Market at the festival, to be located in front of the Governor's Mansion on Capitol Street. Jurors will select approximately 40 exhibitors.

A fee of $100 will be charged for each space. A tent, electricity, refreshments, a parking area, private restrooms and booth-sitting services will be provided, and $2,000 will be awarded to top exhibitors.

To receive poster contest guidelines and an entry form, or to request an application for booth rental, artists and craftspeople should call 960-1557 or write the ArtsAlliance, P.O. Box 17, Jackson, MS 39205.

The ArtsAlliance, a nonprofit local arts agency, acknowledges support from the City of Jackson, Hinds County, Mississippi Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Historical Society slates Christmas homes tour

Celebrate the charm of a Red Ribbon Christmas by the Bay visiting three of the area's most charming homes Saturday, Dec. 14 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

The Christmas Home Tour, sponsored by the Hancock County Historical Society, includes the homes of three of its members and the Kate Lobrano House, home of the Historical Society. Tickets are $5 in advance, available at Ruth's Bakery, 130 Court Street, Olde Towne Restaurant, 119 Main Street or the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Office, Hwy. 90 or $2 per home on tour day.

Mumme Home
504 Nicholson Avenue, Waveland
10 a.m.-noon

The Mumme home was once part of the thriving Ulman's Woolen Mill of Waveland. Built in the 1800's by Alfred A. Ulman, one of Waveland's first aldermen, the home was purchased by the late Eldon Mumme and his wife JoAnne in the late 1980's. The Mumme home will feature eight rooms open to the public, each with its own spectacular array of period furnishings and family heirlooms. Decorating for the holidays is a family tradition with antique dolls and toys and tree trimmings.

Cucullu Home
121 Citizen Street, Bay St. Louis
11 a.m.-1 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Cucullu have lovingly restored and cared for this property listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Built circa 1868 the Cucullu home was a single residence occupied by two blacksmithing brothers and their families. However, their wives wanted separate homes. To bring harmony to the families the brothers hired a local contractor from the Labat family in 1921 to cut the single residence in half and move one section 35 feet from the other. Traditional holiday decorations add to the charm of the many local artists' works displayed throughout the home.

Red Ribbon trolley ride

Bay St. Louis residents and holiday visitors can enjoy a special Red Ribbon treat December 14 from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. compliments of the Peoples-Bank and the Hancock County Historical Society. One of the Coast Area Transit Trolleys will tour part of the historic Beach Boulevard District every half hour.

Charles Gray and a group of Society volunteers will provide a mini history lesson of the area, its architecture and entertaining historical gossip. The trolley will leave from the rear of the Hancock County Courthouse, travel Second Street, Union Street, Beach Boulevard, Main Street, Ulman, Carroll and De Montluzin avenues and return to the courthouse.

The Kate Lobrano House, 108 Cue Street, home of the Historical Society will be open for visitors from 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Halcyon House
341 Main Street, Bay St. Louis
Noon-2 p.m.

This century old home, a primary example of a gable-roofed Creole cottage, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The home features two entrances in middle bays with an undercut gallery. Double-leafed doors are set off by original shutters. Furnishings reflect the period as do the holiday decorations. Hosts will be dressed in period costumes to greet and conduct tours of the original four rooms of Halcyon House constructed circa 1870. Dr. Lawrence Heller and Mr. Larry Timmerman are the owners.

Kate Lobrano House
Cue Street, Bay St. Louis
10 a.m.-2 p.m.

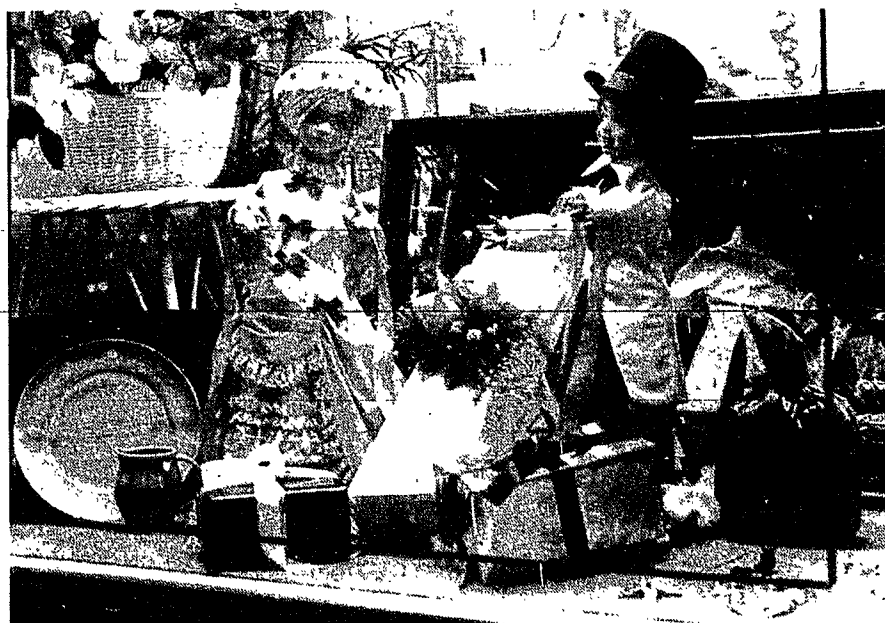

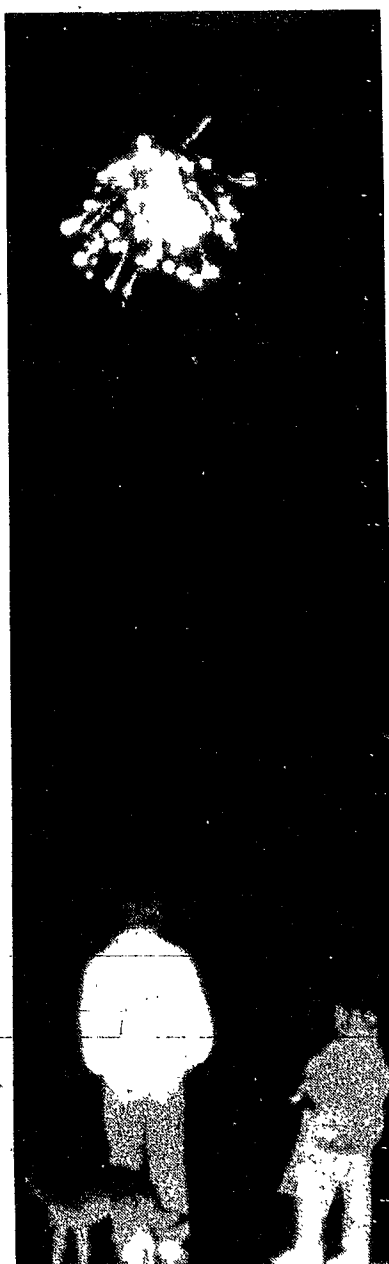

The turn-of-the-century shotgun cottage with a two-sided undercut gallery is the home of the Hancock County Historical Society. The first room serves as a small museum featuring period furnishings, clothing and art work and holiday decorations. Of special interest will be two furnished doll houses on loan to the society for the holidays. The reference room addition will feature publications of the Society and refreshments for visitors on the home tour.

Rocks win two, lose one Monday

BY TRACI BONNEY
The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws rolled over the rival Bay Tigers in two matches Monday, but were shaken off in a third game.

In the ninth grade boys game, the Rocks edged the Tigers 55-53. Leading SSC scorers were Brandon Benoit with 19 points and Vince Moran with 14. Nathan Middleton stood out on defense and rebounding.

The Tigers' Exavier "Cricket" Lewis leapt into the scoring lead with 21 points, followed by Leroy Hawkins with 12 and Brad Laneaux with 10. Raymond McCall stood out on rebounding, while Marc Dupuy shone on defense.

SSC coach Jeff Barbera recounted the final moments of the game: "Kyle Wittmann's free throw, with six seconds left in the game, put the Rock-A-Chaws up by 2. With three seconds left, Bay High called a time-out. A technical was given to the Tigers for having no time-outs, sealing the victory for St. Stanislaus.

Bay High coach Walt Eslinger said the game was a "heart-breaking loss. The team fought back from an 11-point deficit."

The SSC ninth graders stand at 5-3 overall, 4-1 in the conference as they travel to D'Iberville today. The BHS ninth graders' record was 2-3 overall, 2-2 conference as they traveled to Long Beach Tuesday.

EIGHTH GRADE GAME
The Rocks also hit paydirt in the eighth grade game, downing the Tiger hoopsters 42-22. SSC's Terry Lawyer led scoring with 20 points, followed by

Hancock sweeps Picayune in junior girls competition

Both the seventh/eighth grade girls team and the ninth grade girls team at Hancock claimed victories Monday against Picayune.

Coach Debbie Triplett reported both games to have been close, with the seventh/eighth grade game score ending at 35-30 and the ninth grade game score ending at 46-43.

In the seventh/eighth grade game, outstanding scorers were: Jarika Ladner with 14 goals and five rebounds; and Robin Ladner with 10 goals and five rebounds.

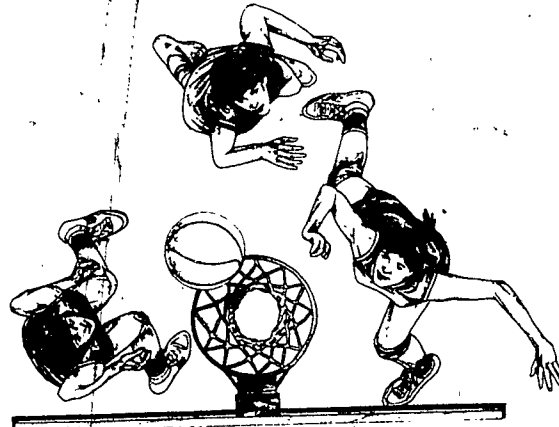

Of the seventh/eighth grade game Triplett said, "The girls played very well, considering Picayune beat us by 13 points the first time we played them this season. So I really thought we showed improvement."

In the ninth grade game, outstanding scorers were: Kendra Smith with 12 points; Christy Arcement with 10 points; Katrina Necaise with 14 rebounds; and Teneill Cuevas with 11 rebounds and five steals.

Triplett commented of the ninth grade game, "It was a very close game. We actually won it on the free throw line. In the last two minutes of the game we were 8-8 on the free throw line."

"Smith, Cuevas and Chastity Head came through for us in the last minutes of the game, each making their free throw shots."

Both girls teams play again today at Hancock against Pearl River Central. The games begin at 4 p.m.

Over all and in the Coast Junior High Conference, each team stands: seventh/eighth grade, 6-3; ninth grade, 4-1.

Six SSC runners attend regional meet

The St. Stanislaus cross country team took six of their runners recently to the Southern Regional meet of the Kinney Nationals.

Five of the six made the All-Regional Mississippi team in their respective divisions.

Chris Kehoe ran 17:33 in the seeded division.

Scott Marechal ran 19:28 in the unseeded division.

Gilly Chamberlain ran 19:23 in the freshman-sophomore division.

Bryan Carter ran 20:19 in the freshman-sophomore division.

Also competing for SSC was Joe Cerise and David Heitzmann in the freshman-sophomore division.

Seven members of SSC's cross country team took the state championship in Clinton on November 16.

Those members were: Chris Kehoe, Drew Scafile, Gilly Chamberlain, Joe Cerise, Alejandro Alvarez, Scott Marechal and Scott Black.

Other members of SSC's cross country team were: Neil Heitzmann, Frank Kerbl, Mike Hargett, Jimmy Williams, Judd Deaton, David Bell, Kippy Chamberlain, Jason Braud, Matt Dillenkoffer, Charlie Lancaster, Ross Hailey and Scott Schaffer.

Rocks drop to D'Iberville

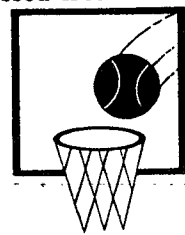

St. Stanislaus' varsity basketball team lost to D'Iberville Thursday, 72-62.

SSC Coach Ladner stated, "If only the games had lasted 16 minutes, we would have been in good shape."

"This is another game in which we've led at the half and still lost. Third period play has been a disaster for us so far this year, but we are about to pinpoint the problem. We can't continue this and expect to be successful."

"Our post defense was less than adequate and D'Iberville worked us over inside."

"The little things cost us this game, defensive breakdowns and missed free throws."

Leading scorers for the game were Ryan Harrell with 19 points and Trent Terrell with 15 points.

Defense was led by Harrell with 17 rebounds and Mike Lee with 11. Harrell also had nine steals during the game.

"Lee played a good game against the Coast's leading scorer, holding him to only eight points," Ladner added.

The Rock-A-Chaws stood at 3-7 overall and 2-2 in district 8 4-A as they played the Hancock Hawks Tuesday.

Tigers top Rocks in tough soccer match

The Bay High Tiger Soccer team defeated the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws 2-1 Monday night in a hard-fought match at St. Stanislaus. Each team had goals called back due to offside advantage, but the Tigers managed two others while the Rocks' only goal came from a penalty shot by Beau Schindler. Bay High's first goal was scored in the first half by freshman Greg Ellis with an assist from fellow freshman Steven Scharp. The score was 1-0 Tigers at the half.

The Rocks scored next on the penalty to even the score. A free kick by Tiger Richard Watson glanced off the head of a Stanislaus defender to put Bay High ahead minutes before the final whistle.

Bay High's coach Kathryn MacDowell praised the Tigers' team effort and recognized keeper Lee Murphree and defenders Richard Watson and Brennan Compretta for outstanding defensive play. She added that many of Murphree's saves were technically perfect.

Rock-A-Chaw coach Tim Burns commented that his team "learned that we are not unbeatable. We just have to work harder to stay in the win column."

The Rock-A-Chaws are now 5-2-1 (2-1 district) while the Tigers are 3-3 (2-2 in district play).

St. Stanislaus plays its next match on Friday against Harrison Central.

Bay High faces Long Beach at J. D. McCullough Stadium Friday night at 6:30.

BHS juniors defeat Hawks; lose to Pass

The Bay High School seventh/eighth and ninth grade basketball teams defeated the Hancock Hawks on Tuesday, Dec. 2.

The seventh/eighth grade Tigers posted a 31-25 victory. Scoring for Bay High were: Luke Weems with eight points; Wali Shabazz with six points; Lee Morris with six points; Ronald Thomas with five points; Fabian Collins with four points; and Robbie Lumpkin with two points.

Jeremy Turcotte contributed in rebounding and Myron Day was outstanding in hustling, stated Coach Walt Eslinger.

He added, "The win against Hancock was brought about by excellent team effort."

The ninth grade team won 42-28.

Scoring for the Tigers were: Raymond McCall with nine points; Brad Laneaux with eight points; Xavier Lewis with six points; Lydell Haynes with six points; Michael Price with four points; Shawn Gebbia with three points; Leroy Hawkins with two points; Jason Smith with two points; and Renell Singleton with two points.

Both Robert Vonture and Marc Dupuy showed outstanding defensive play, added Eslinger.

"It was a solid game. Inside players McCall, Laneaux, Smith and Haynes played well," he stated.

The Tigers' solid game crumbled December 5 as both the seventh/eighth and ninth grade teams lost to the Pass Christian Pirates.

The seventh/eighth grade team lost 39-23 to the Pirates, despite outstanding rebounding by Fabian Collins and hustling by Malcolm Day. None of the Tigers' scorers moved into double digits; Ronald "Miko" Thomas led the points with 6.

The seventh/eighth graders stood at 1-4 overall, 1-2 conference as they faced crosstown rival St. Stanislaus Monday.

In the ninth grade game, the Tigers were downed 46-31.

Brad Laneaux led scoring with 13 points. Other outstanding players included Jason Smith on rebounds, Michael Price and Robert Vonture on defense.

Eslinger called the game a "tough conference loss. Foul trouble and inability to shoot free throws are hurting the team."

"It was a great defensive game," SSC Coach Eddie Burgo reported, "and someone had to win it. Unfortunately it wasn't us."

The eighth grade team had even more trouble with the Blue Devils, as PRC defeated SSC, 50-14.

Leading scorers in the seventh grade game were: Kyle Moran with 5 points; and Tim Kingston with 4 points.

Burgo added that Moran did an outstanding job in defense and rebounding during the game.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. There are good sportsmen and there are bad, downright lousy sportsmen. Then they have a separate category of animal that is only concerned with his own profit and well-being. This person thinks nothing of destroying the resources that belong to all of us. The people I am speaking of are the ones who brought in beaucoup large amounts of illegal red fish into the state and the ones who sold them. This and the ones who sold fish, puppy drum, and other fish in the Horn of Africa.

Both the honest net fishermen and the sportfishermen have been saddled with restrictive rules on both catch size and catch limits. These rules were intended to help the honest net fishermen to make a living and to help the sportfishermen to catch enough fish to make a fishing trip worthwhile.

It would appear that if the dishonest net fisherman cannot be controlled, then perhaps the equipment that he uses can be controlled. This would mean a total complete ban on all gill nets in Mississippi.

Serious consideration should be given by the honest net fishermen to policing their own before gill net fishing is banned altogether.

I have overheard people say that is unscrupulous seafood buyers would not buy the illegal fish, then there would be no market. If there were no one to purchase the illegal fish then there would be no attempt to catch them.

What makes Mississippi so attractive to the illegal catch and sale of reds and trout is that the other Gulf States have passed laws declaring specks and reds game fish, to varying degrees.

We seem to be the only Gulf State that has a ready market for specks and reds. One year ago...

Now I know that you are going to say that I am a liar. I have declared an annual quota on the commercial fishing of red fish in Mississippi. But did you know that the reporting procedure that BMR relies on to know when the quota has been reached depends on the seafood buyers to tell BMR when they have reached their annual quota?

The only thing this turtle can say about this sorry state of affairs is that if you want anything left for your children you better get involved now. Make your voice known to your senators and congressmen.

On other subjects of interest: There is a big push on for a saltwater fishing license. I personally think this is a good idea if certain criteria are followed. We must be assured that the majority of the money collected for the license goes to saltwater research and for increased enforcement of laws.

By having a saltwater fishing license a data base will be established that will graphically

Bad sportsmen have no regard for our resources demonstrate, with concrete numbers, how many people enjoy saltwater fishing. This will give some credence to our claims of just how big of an impact saltwater fishing makes on the economy of the Gulf Coast.

I have been hearing that the price for the new saltwater license will be about $5 for residents and about $6 for a non-resident three-day license.

I have not heard what the projected cost will be for an annual non-resident, saltwater fishing license.

Now, where are the fish biting? Just about anywhere there is water.

All of the canals and deep holes are producing fish.

The best way to fish seems to be to move. Troll slow. Fish a likely spot, and if you do not get a bite real quick, like, pronto in a hurry, move on to another likely spot.

The fish are biting; you just have to move around till you find them.

Remember, if you like to drag the bait behind the boat, you just gotta fish slow and deep.

This week's wonderful wise words: Do your children a favor, report a game thief.

How come there were no 22-inch reds in that catch, turtle?

TIMBERLINE

By Mark Jamieson
County Forester

The recent Forest Products Week observance brings to my mind one of the current misconceptions a lot of people have about "saving trees" by recycling paper.

Of course, recycling is a good habit to get into for a lot of consumer items—paper included—but the act of recycling paper doesn't really save many trees. At least not the large trees that most people think they may be "saving" when they dutifully toss their old newspapers, etc. in a recycling bin.

As a matter of fact, trees that are used for papermaking are primarily smaller trees that are removed to give larger trees more room to grow, or they are those that were grown in plantations especially for pulpwood.

In Mississippi and other southeastern states, pines are usually the kind grown as pulpwood because they are fast-growing, relatively easy to manage, and well suited for this region.

Larger pine trees are harvested for lumber or panel products, while parts of the tree left over from these products are frequently chipped up for use as wood pulp. That's what conservation is, "wise use of our resources."

The only way to harvest fewer of the big trees is to build fewer homes. Most of us wouldn't advocate building fewer homes, because fewer houses built means an automatic dip in the state of our economy. Every new household means more demand for everything that goes inside a home—right?

It might also be a fact too, that the more we rely on recycled paper, the less incentive tree farmers will have to plant trees. Ever thought about that?

Ironically as it seems, it is possible that recycling could cause there to be fewer trees. Lower demand means lower value, and lower value leads to lower production. Simple as that. Recycling could cause us to cut fewer trees, but also cause us to have fewer trees to cut. Think about it.

I don't personally believe that recycling will ever become a serious obstacle to tree planting. There will always be a demand for wood products, including wood chips, for our own local consumption and for overseas markets as well.

Today, we actually have more trees than we had 70 years ago. Last year, an average of five million trees a day were planted in the United States.

Add to this the trees that are growing as a result of natural regeneration; probably three or four times as many as we grew in our nursery beds.

Did you know that Mississippi's number one crop is trees, in terms of economic impact? Harvesting of timber generated close to $4 billion in economic activity for us last year.

Wood products were worth $737 million at the first processing point. Landowners were paid $410 million for their trees as they stood on the stump.

Forest products companies are the state's second largest manufacturing employers, providing one of every four manufacturing jobs and direct employment for 57,000 (not counting thousands more employed in support industries).

The answer to this coming heavier demand is wise use and continuing replenishment of our forest resources.

It is important for Americans to recycle as much paper as we feasibly can... if for no other reason but to reduce our solid waste disposal problems. Recycling alone won't solve the problem, but it will help.
